Section 2 Code of Ethics

- A. We, the members of the Interfraternity Council, agree to promote the highest ethical characteristics as embodied by each member fraternities' founding principles. We shall encourage our members to reach their full potential by focusing on academics, social justice, leadership, friendship, and civic engagement.
- B. We realize that by being a member of the Interfraternity Council we acquire additional responsibilities because we are representing not just ourselves, but the entire Interfraternity Council. As organizations focused on friendship, we shall uphold our morals by treating others with dignity and respect regardless of an individual's involvement, membership classification, or their level of seniority.
- C. We believe that acts such as hazing, assault, harassment, discrimination, sexual misconduct and the misuse and abuse of drugs and alcohol prevent members from reaching their full potential and we are concerned about their impacts on the safety and lifelong well-being of our members. We expect personal responsibility from all members, and we will hold our members accountable for their actions through education-based self-governance.

- D. We agree to become active participants on Iowa State University's campus, within the Sorority and Fraternity Community, and in the City of Ames. We shall practice unselfish leadership and strive to continue the tradition of creating and nurturing strong leaders. As leaders, we will address the issues of hazing, assault, harassment, discrimination, sexual misconduct, alcohol misuse, and drug misuse and abuse through education, training, and mature adult guidance. We will provide leadership opportunities to all of our members and hold them to their obligations and commitments.
- E. We shall strive for excellence in our academic endeavors. We recognize that the purpose of a university setting is to actively pursue a quality education, and we will seek knowledge and information in order to become well-rounded members of society.
- F. Knowing that our differences lead to a diverse Interfraternity Council, we shall promote and accept each individual's unique personalities and characteristics. Individuality will be promoted within the Interfraternity Council, as each member will contribute in their own unique way. We agree to address thoughts and behaviors not upholding this ideal.
- G. The Interfraternity Council is concerned with the safety, well-being, dignity, and personal growth of all of our members. Through this Code of Ethics, we believe we can promote individuals to reach their full potential and become citizens who positively impact the world. Therefore, we pledge to adhere to this Code of Ethics each day and to let the values outlined within it guide ourselves into becoming morally and socially responsible individuals.
